Introduction

This list is for vehicles that were registered in the historic county of Monmouthshire between 1904 and 1974 (Section 1). It includes vehicles registered by the former Newport County Borough Council (Section 2), which had its own licensing powers, as well as those registered by Monmouthshire County Council. Vehicles registered in Newport before 1914 are included in the Monmouthshire County Council series.

The Motor Car Act of 1903 brought in compulsory registration for vehicles in England and Wales, and came into force on 1 January 1904. The earliest registration numbers consisted of a 1 or 2 letter prefix followed by a number between 1 and 999, later increased to 9999. The letter prefix identified the county in which the vehicle was registered. Vehicles registered by Monmouthshire County Council were given the prefix AX. The prefix WO was also used from 1926. Vehicles registered by the former Newport County Borough Council had the prefix DW. Over the years, extra letters and numbers were added to the original letter prefixes in order to create additional registration marks.

In 1963, local authorities began adding a letter suffix, beginning with the letter "A," at the end of each registration mark to indicate the year of registration. However, the year suffix was not made compulsory until 1965. In the case of Monmouthshire County Council and Newport Borough Council, the suffix was first used in 1964.

A central body for vehicle licensing, the DVLC (Driver and Vehicle Licensing Centre) was established in Swansea in 1965. The transfer of responsibility for licensing of vehicles was completed in 1978.
